Best meal in the middle of nowhere:

Marfa is known for many things, but reliable dining options has not historically be one of them. So my friends and I were cautiously optimistic with the addition of LaVenture at the newly opened Hotel Saint George. When our meal, which included everything from a juicy burger to sumptuous prawns, turned out to be one of the best we'd had in recent memory, we were overjoyed. Stay tuned for a second, more casual restaurant to be added soon.
